Snow cover conditions and avalanche danger: The snow cover is characterised by recent small-sized accumulations related to the last snowfall, locally unstable. These accumulations lay on old and solid wind drift accumulations generally well consolidated. Considerable danger level (3) on the Giulie Alps. Possible releases above the tree line, especially on the northern aspects and below ridges and forks and along the steepest slopes, triggered even by a single skier/hiker. Moderate danger level (2) on the Carnic Alps and Prealps and on the Giulie Prealps, related to the old accumulations, which could cause a release on the northern aspects triggered with a generally high overload. Not to be excluded the release triggered even by a single skier/hiker on very steep slopes and locally at the highest altitudes.

Forecast for Thursday 15 February 2018, reliability: 80%
