Snow cover conditions and avalanche danger: The snow cover is typically spring-like. Warm temperatures will continue today, with chance of light rain in the afternoon. With the daytime heat and light rain, on very steep slopes and from walls, chance of wet-snow avalanches, also medium in size, both natural and triggered, even with the passage of individual skiers or hikers. In the afternoon, avalanche danger is 2 (moderate) on the Alps and in the Canin area above 1800 m, 1 (low) below this altitude and on the Prealps.

Forecast for Saturday 16 April 2022, reliability: 80%

Chance of small wet-snow avalanches in the afternoon.

Weather by OSMER - ARPA FVG:
Sunny in the morning, variable skies in the afternoon with chance of light rain and snowfall over 1700m.

Snow cover conditions and avalanche danger: Clear in morning, generally variable skies in the afternoon, with the chance of several thunderstorms, more likely in western areas of the region. Freezing point at 2000 m. In the morning, the snow cover will be mainly consolidated. During the day, with an increase in temperatures, and due to the local thunderstorms, snow at high altitudes. On very steep northern slopes below 2000m, chance of isolated small natural avalanches of wet snow. Pay particular attention in the morning to the possible presence of frozen sections at high altitudes. Avalanche danger will be 1 (low) throughout the territory.

Forecast for Sunday 17 April 2022, reliability: 80%

Generally stable snow cover. Beware of possible presence of icy layers.

Thermal Zero: 1600 m
T.average 1000: 5 °C
T.average 2000: -3 °C

Weather by OSMER - ARPA FVG:

Clear or slightly cloudy skies. NE winds, also strong, at high altitudes. Decreasing temperatures.

Snow cover conditions and avalanche danger: Nice weather with freezing point at 1600 m and strong NE winds at high altitudes. The surface of the snow cover, which has become damp in recent days due to the heat and rain and the expected drop in temperatures, will freeze, especially at high altitudes, but the snow cover will be stable elsewhere. There are no particular criticalities for avalanches. Beware of hard, icy surface crusts. Avalanche danger will be 1 (low) throughout the territory.

Forecast for Monday 18 April 2022, reliability: 80%

Generally stable snow cover. Beware of possible presence of icy layers.

T.average 2000: -4 °C

Weather by OSMER - ARPA FVG:

Mostly cloudy in the morning. Cloudy with possible light snowfall over 1200 m in the afternoon.

Snow cover conditions and avalanche danger: Overcast with light clouds in the morning. Overcast with light snowfall up to 1200 m in the afternoon. The snow cover will be stable throughout the territory. No particular avalanche criticalities are reported. The expected light snowfall will not change the avalanche danger, which remains 1 (low) throughout the territory. Beware of hard, icy surface crusts. In the evening, chance of small avalanches from walls that can be isolated in the areas most affected by snowfall.

Forecast for Tuesday 19 April 2022, reliability: 70%

Isolated avalanches from walls and rare chance of natural and triggered small avalanches.

Weather by OSMER - ARPA FVG:
Variable skies with chance of some light snowfall over 1000 m.

Snow cover conditions and avalanche danger: Generally variable skies with chance of some light snowfall over 1000 m. Freezing point at 1500 m. The snow cover will be stable throughout the territory. The new snow will not bind well with the hard, icy surfaces under it, therefore, danger of slipping on steep slopes is not excluded. Avalanche danger will be 1 (low) throughout the territory. Chance of isolated avalanches from walls and rare small natural and triggered avalanches in areas of accumulation most affected by snowfall.
